IRON-ic 36" x 36" on Metal

The background of the entire image is an abstract artwork created on heavy metal. It features a complex composition of colors and textures. The upper portion is dominated by a vibrant blue and teal palette, with streaks of white and yellow. The lower portion transitions into a deep red and orange hue, with dark, almost black, areas interspersed. The overall effect is one of raw, expressive energy, with visible brushstrokes and a sense of depth.

Kimberley is an Arizona native who creates high-end contemporary and modern art. She has been involved with design for most of her life: she worked at a design firm in high school, she started her first business in the fashion industry at age 23 and she is a founding partner in a high-end custom home business. Her participation and contributions in the design visions and processes that lead to the creation of the spaces that people live in has fueled her creativity. Her inspiration and passion is to create art that brings positivity and high-impact to its environment. Her innovative and out-of-the-box approach to everything from her custom manufactured metal and “floating” canvases to her unconventional techniques and materials gives her work a rare, edgy authenticity. Although there is great diversity in her work (from industrial to ethnic nuances), Kimberley’s unique style is highly recognizable. She is self-taught and her innate gifts for art are evident in so many facets of her work, such as her ability to combine modern and rustic elements. Her works are highly textural, complex, and dimensional. Canvases are retrofitted so as to give a “floating” appearance. Kimberley offers full-service residential and corporate art consultation, selection, installation and lighting. Commissioned work is available. She also has a new division of custom designed and manufactured furniture. Kimberley believes in giving back to her community and 10% of the proceeds are donated to charity.
